hold vessel

designer: karen gilbert + paul pavlak

The SkLO hold vessel is a glass wall vase that appears to stretch from the hook on which it hangs. Executed in Bohemian glass and hung from a hand made hook, SkLO hold vessels can be functional vases, or sculptural objects, and benefit from being shown in multiples, with endless color combinations possible within the overall palette of available colors. Hand blown, no two hold vessels are exactly alike. Hand blown in the Czech Republic.
